My Life's Work - what I'm here to do - Gene Key 2

You may not be aware of what an important role you play within the collective body of humanity. You are one of those whose life directly exerts a magnetic force right into the heart of humanity. It is as though you have access to the steering wheel when most do not. Everything you say and do effects the direction taken by humanity. The clearer and more selfless your activity is, the more you affect the world around you. Your Life's Work always has a mystical dimension to it, no matter how mundane it may seem. In every sphere of your life, you have the power to create a subtle global influence that is out of proportion to the actual activity itself. Depending on your frequency, you are either blessed or cursed in this respect. This is a great responsibility, but there are also millions of other people who share your same archetype.

My Evolution - what I'm here to learn - Gene Key 1

The greatest test and the greatest gift in your life is the creative process itself. The fact is that you are never going to be able to control it. There will be dark times for you — sometimes they may be fleeting, and sometimes they may last a long time. At such times, your gift of knowing where everything is going will be greatly diminished. Because of this, you must learn to cope with the feelings and fears that this brings up in you. If you can maintain your perspective, you can actually thrive during such times, but you have to let go and trust that the process will bring you through. You are changing, and as long as you channel your energy in a healthy way and don't let anyone try to 'fix' you, you will always re-invent yourself in a whole new light.

My Radiance - what keeps me healthy - Gene Key 13

There is a deep ascetic aspect to your nature. You need to set up regular periods of time to be alone with yourself and nature. Your body craves time away from people so that you can connect in to the source that unites all people. As someone who can be highly empathic to others, you also draw great strength from nature, and she helps you in processing and purging the many impressions and experiences that move mysteriously through your body. Your greatest danger is the fear that you cannot handle being human, and that you cannot face being with people because it overwhelms you. It will only overwhelm you if you are holding back some secret part of yourself. Your protection from the suffering of the world is to accept it so totally into your being that it passes right through you. The greatest secret of your life is that you have no secrets from anyone.

My Purpose - what deeply fulfils me - Gene Key 7

Through your life, a part of human evolution is yearning to be fulfilled. You are not here to make any particular individual achievement. Even though you may perform many great acts, of themselves they will not bring you a true sense of purpose. You are a being of the future and you carry a seed of the future within you. Your service to humanity, whatever it may be and however insignificant it may appear, can one day grow exponentially. What gives you a sense of purpose is to facilitate events and people far beyond any individual capacity. You know that your dreams cannot be fulfilled in a single lifetime because they are too large, so your real job is to help others come together more effectively and easily. In this way, you are laying the foundation of a future that is actually a collective dream rather than an individual one. You hold an aspect of this dream of what the earth could one day look like, and your true purpose is to put into operation the aspect that you hold. What it will become is beyond your single life, and that should bring you joy.
